The 69th Lindau Nobel Laureate Meeting

The 69th Lindau Nobel Laureate Meeting is dedicated to physics. In accordance with the 2018 Nobel Prize in Physics, one of the core topics is laser physics. Additional topics to be discussed include dark matter and the standard model of cosmology as well as gravitational waves, which could be detected in 2016 for the first time. This year, 600 young scientists from all over the world will meet 42 Nobel Laureates, including some of the most recent recipients of the Nobel Prize (find the complete list of participating laureates here).

The programme will include numerous lectures, panel discussions, Agora Talks, master classes and a poster session. In addition, there will be plenty of opportunities for informal exchange with the meeting participants on the fringes of the sessions as well as during the social events. The organisers of the meeting can arrange interview appointments for journalists with Nobel Laureates, young scientists and guests. The meeting programme will be available online from April 2019.

Application for the Travel Grant

The application is open to all journalists world-wide.

You are asked to submit:

- A letter of motivation stating
 - your specific interest in the meeting and its participants
 - how you are planning to cover the meeting (the type and extent of the work you will produce)
 - the media outlet where you aim to publish your article/piece
- A CV listing your professional experience and your current position
